

SHAREPOINT

TRAINING

New technology implementations can often be daunting for employees. Often times these tools are viewed as 'just another thing to learn' without seeing their true value. Since a company is only as good as its employee's ability to utilize the tools they have available, it is crucial to introduce a training program to ensure employees are well versed in the technology in order to promote user adoption.

One element of a successful SharePoint implementation that is frequently overlooked is an effective user training program. Whether you are an Information Worker, IT Professional, or Developer, Helux Systems provides the most comprehensive training for SharePoint 2007/2010/2013.

Helux Systems Training Best Practices:

Helux Systems Training Best Practices:

1. Keep it simple. We provide training that is straightforward and to the point
2. Keep it relevant. We use common job-related examples from your everyday responsibilities rather than made up scenarios
3. Keep it flexible. We address all levels of users from basic end users to power users and train them accordingly by understanding their skill level
4. Keep it in-house. We offer to train users in the environment they will be using on a daily basis. Each client has a very unique SharePoint interface and will require training based on their own customized needs
